Protecting Your Cyber Footprint

You're invited to June's Getting Better with Gallagher Financial Wellbeing educational event!

The challenges brought by COVID-19 have highlighted a number of areas ripe for additional privacy protections, including remote learning, telework, contact tracing and visitor screening/data collection. From major retailers to healthcare institutions, we have grown accustomed to learning about data breaches – and potential exposure to personal data – on the evening news.

Additionally, our attitudes toward how we bank have shifted. Today, four in five customers prefer to manage their finances digitally rather than in person, according to a Chase Bank survey.

What steps should you be taking to protect your identity and financial wellbeing in a cyber world? During this session, Gallagher financial wellbeing, HR technology and retirement plan consulting advisors will review the current cybersecurity environment, employer and legislative protections that are in place, and steps you can take to better manage your own cyber footprint.
